

REBECCA
& GEOFFREY

HELLO

Thank you for taking the time to get to know a little about us. We appreciate and respect the decision you are making, and we would be honored to raise your child. We are unable to have children traditionally and have decided to expand our family through adoption. We have multiple friends and family members who have been touched by adoption, and we know that it will be an amazing journey for us.

About Us

Our journey together has been filled with love, laughter, and adventure. We met the way so many couples do these days—online! Geoffrey, who usually took his time getting to know someone before meeting in person, was eager to meet Rebecca right away because he knew she was someone special. Rebecca knew after meeting Geoffrey that she had met her match. After two years of dating, we were married on April 12, 2025. What stands out most to both of us is how easy our relationship has always been and how much we genuinely enjoy each other's company.

Together, we enjoy life's simple pleasures—taking morning walks with our dog, Georgia, sipping coffee on the patio, and Friday movie nights at home. Weekends are our favorite time to unwind—trying new restaurants, spending time with friends and family, and cheering on the Dawgs during football season and the Braves during baseball season. We also like to stay active by playing pickleball and going on walks around our neighborhood, and joining group fitness classes. We are always ready to do something together. It could even be something simple, working on our yard together, decorating our house, or running errands around town.

Traveling has always been one of our favorite things to do. From Charleston and Savannah to Jekyll Island, Chicago, and Marco Island, we've loved discovering new places and experiences. We hope to show our child the world, helping them see that the world is theirs to explore.

Our careers are fulfilling and meaningful because we both share a passion for helping others. Geoffrey is a civil defense attorney with a focus in insurance defense.

Rebecca is a dietitian who works with patients on dialysis. We are fortunate that Rebecca will be a stay-at-home mom once we adopt our child. Geoffrey has a flexible work schedule that allows him to work from home three to four days a week, with no weekend commitments, so he will also be an ever-present dad. Geoffrey's job gives us opportunities to travel, and I love joining him—one day, we look forward to bringing our baby along on those adventures too!

Even before we were married, we both knew adoption would one day be part of our story. We have always shared the desire to have children, but because of Rebecca's medical history, doctors have advised that pregnancy would be high-risk for her and the baby. Rebecca's love for children has been lifelong—she spent years babysitting, working in a daycare, and serving in a church nursery. Becoming a mother has always been her dream, and adoption feels like the perfect way to fulfill that dream and share our love with a child.

When Rebecca shared this with Geoffrey while we were dating, he was completely supportive and immediately embraced the idea of adoption. From the very beginning, we both felt this was part of God's plan for our family.

ABOUT REBECCA

From the moment Rebecca and I met, I was drawn to her bubbly personality and bright smile. She loves people, exploring new places, and trying new things—she's actually the reason I took my very first flight. As the years have gone by, I'm still amazed by how much we've accomplished and how many adventures we've had as a couple, and the only thing that can make our life better is to share everything we do with a child.

Rebecca keeps our household running smoothly—she's the one who manages our home, cooks delicious meals, keeps things organized, and even makes my appointments. She's also the kind of person who's always learning something new; she has recently learned how to play Mahjong. Rebecca is a social butterfly who loves spending time with friends, whether that's meeting for lunch or planning other get-togethers to stay connected. She loves joining me to go watch baseball games or football games.

Rebecca is kind, nurturing, and full of love. I know she will make a wonderful mother. She's so excited to begin her next chapter as a full-time, stay-at-home mom.

Rebecca has such a kind heart. She is incredibly sweet and loving, and I love watching her interact with our niece and nephew. Whether she's helping host their birthday parties or picking out the perfect gift, she always makes them feel special and deeply loved. Rebecca also works at a fun boutique store where she wraps gifts for customers—she calls that her "fun job"! I love how she brings joy and creativity into everything she does.

ABOUT GEOFFREY

After my first date with Geoffrey, I remember telling my mom, "I've met my match!" I had never met someone as outgoing and talkative as I am! Geoffrey is smart, funny, and charismatic.

He keeps things lighthearted and always makes me laugh. He's also a hard worker and an excellent provider. One of his strongest traits is how protective and caring he is—he's always looking out for others' safety and well-being, and I know he will be this way as a dad.

Geoffrey has a passion for history and an impressive memory for dates and details. He enjoys going on walks, spending time with family and friends, and watching ballgames together. A proud University of Georgia graduate, he's a big Georgia Bulldogs fan and loves cheering on his team every season. Since we bought our home, he's found a new hobby in landscaping and taking pride in keeping our yard beautiful. One of Geoffrey's favorite places is the beach. So we go multiple times a year.

Geoffrey will make an incredible father. He'll bring fun, laughter, and love into your child's life while always being protective and devoted to his family.

Our Home

We recently moved into our new home, with lots of room to grow. We live in a 2,400 square foot, two-story home with four bedrooms and three bathrooms, set on  $\frac{1}{4}$  acre of land with a fenced-in backyard. We love our neighbors and often gather in our yards to play games and spend time together. Our next-door neighbors have a sweet, three-year-old boy whom we adore. We go to his T-ball games, play outside with him, and enjoy watching him grow. Your baby will have an instant buddy and a loving neighborhood community to grow up in.

OUR NEIGHBORHOOD

We live in Canton, Georgia, on the northern edge of Atlanta. Our home is surrounded by beautiful North Georgia mountain views, and we're close to Red Top Mountain and the Etowah Trail, where we often enjoy taking walks together. Our neighborhood is child-friendly with many amenities, including a pool with a slide, tennis courts, softball field, pickleball court, soccer field, and basketball courts. There are multiple cul-de-sacs within the neighborhood, providing many safe places where children play. Our neighborhood is big into the holidays—especially Halloween, tons of kids come to our street for trick-or-treating. Geoffrey and I had the best time passing out candy, and we can't wait to dress up our child in their first costume and enjoy it all together as a family.

Georgia

Georgia is our sweet mini golden doodle. We got her as a puppy from a local doodle breeder and she's now just over a year old. She keeps our lives full of energy, laughter, and movement. She is the biggest cuddler you will meet. True to her "velcro dog" nickname, she wants to be wherever we are and follows us everywhere. We take her on walks together each morning and evening, which are some of our favorite moments as a family. Georgia is wonderful with children and loves playing with our next-door neighbors' kids. We recently fenced in our backyard so she has a fun place to run and play freely, and we can't wait for the day she has a little playmate to join her.

Kirby

Kirby is our extremely friendly cat. We brought him home as a tiny kitten, just one day after getting our dog, Georgia. Geoffrey is more of a cat lover, so this was the perfect compromise. Rebecca got her dog, Georgia, and Geoffrey got his cat, Kirby. As big Georgia Bulldog fans, it only felt fitting to name our pets after the team and their coach, Kirby Smart. Kirby is an indoor cat who loves to perch on the windowsills and watch the world go by. Since Georgia and Kirby grew up together as babies, they've become the best of friends and love to play and nap side by side.

Our FAMILY TRADITIONS

Family is at the center of our lives. Rebecca is the middle of three sisters and an aunt to a niece and nephew who bring much fun and laughter to our family. Geoffrey has an older brother who looks forward to becoming an uncle. .

Both of our families are thrilled and supportive of our adoption journey. We see our families about once a month for birthday celebrations, family dinners, or cheering on our niece and nephew at their soccer games.

Rebecca's family takes an annual beach trip to St. George Island, a special place her family has visited for generations. Rebecca's mother began going there as a child, and now we continue that tradition every year. We can't wait to bring our future child along to make those same memories together.

We also love celebrating the holidays with both sides of our family. Geoffrey's dad and brother join Rebecca's family for Thanksgiving, and we spend the Christmas season with both families. We're fortunate that everyone lives nearby in the Atlanta area, making it easy to stay close and connected. Although Geoffrey's mother passed away in 2021, her memory and her delicious Polish recipes remain an important part of our family traditions.

Both sides of our family cannot wait to welcome a baby. Having each grown up in loving homes, we understand the deep value of family and are committed to giving your child that same strong foundation of love, support, and belonging.

Our Friends

We both enjoy spending time with our friends. Since Rebecca has lived in Georgia her whole life, most of her friends are in the Atlanta area. We also have several close friends who live in Tennessee and love taking trips to visit them. Rebecca has two friends she's remained close with since middle school, and they still get together regularly. Geoffrey has maintained strong friendships with several people he met during law school and his six years working in Mississippi before moving back to Georgia.

Rebecca also considers her two sisters and mom her best friends. They talk daily and see each other at least once a month for get-togethers or “sister dates.” We feel so blessed to have friendships that have lasted through all seasons of life and look forward to sharing these relationships and trips with our future child.

Thank you

We want to end by saying how much respect and admiration we have for you. You're showing immeasurable strength and courage by considering an adoption plan for your baby. Please know that we feel the love you have for your child, and we value your feelings and want you to feel peace in your decision..

We will cherish raising your child through meaningful experiences such as family beach trips, discovering new foods, and playing with neighborhood friends. Holidays will be filled with special traditions, and birthdays will always be celebrated in a big way.

If you choose us, please know that your baby will be loved beyond words. We promise to provide a safe, stable, and nurturing home filled with laughter, learning, and adventures. We will encourage your child's unique talents, celebrate every milestone, and support him or her through life's challenges.

Thank you for taking the time to get to know us and for considering us as potential parents. We would be honored to walk alongside you on this journey, and we hold you and your baby in our hearts.

With love and respect,

Rebecca & Geoffrey
