

Caroline & Jason

HELLO!

We're Caroline, Jason, and Connor

We are grateful you're taking time to view our profile and get a glimpse into the life we have built. We can't know what it's like to walk in your shoes, but please know your love for your child can never be questioned. You are strong, courageous, and selfless, and we admire you.

Should you choose us, your baby would be surrounded by stability, love, and support. We will welcome them with open arms, honor their story, encourage their uniqueness, provide them every opportunity to fulfill their dreams, give them tools to face challenging times, and walk alongside them through it all.

We would be honored, overjoyed, and forever grateful should you choose us. Every day of their life, we will love them because you loved them first.

WITH LOVE

❁ How It All Began ❁

Our story began 20 years ago when Jason's cousin, who was also one of Caroline's close college friends, introduced us on the dance floor at her wedding. The connection was instant. After four years of dating, traveling, and finishing grad school, Jason proposed on a beautiful cliffside overlook in France. We continued our adventure by moving to Latin America, where we lived with host families, studied Spanish, and filled our evenings with surfing, cooking, and dance lessons.

We married in 2010 in the same church where Caroline's parents and grandparents were married, and celebrated with an all-night dance party surrounded by family and friends from every chapter of our lives. Since then, we've created a beautiful life together, and in 2019, we welcomed our son Connor.

A PERFECT MATCH

Throughout this journey, we've built a friendship that lets us grow individually while always moving through life side by side. We are teammates and each other's biggest cheerleaders.

Our sense of adventure makes life fuller, sillier, and more inspired, but the greatest joy has been watching our child join the fun.

We've always wanted to adopt and have watched many friends experience that blessing firsthand. After losing two babies, our marriage and support systems grew even stronger, and so did our desire to grow our family through adoption. We are so grateful for the life we have and can't wait to share our love.

A LITTLE MORE

About Us

Jason is brilliant and witty with a calming presence, and previously flew fighter jets in the Marine Corps. Caroline loves deeply, is always ready to celebrate, and completed an Ironman Triathlon. At home, Caroline is the planner, Jason is the best laundry folder, and Connor keeps things lively as our resident DJ and dance-party starter. We value honesty, compassion, and working through challenges together.

In our free time, Jason enjoys reading and NFL football, while Caroline loves gardening, catching up during walks with friends, and cheering for the Eagles with Jason. As a family, we enjoy making brunch, attending music and food festivals, hiking, and spending time outdoors. We're also part of a "Birthday Club" made up of 11 couples who gather each month for themed celebrations and lots of laughter.

EXPLORING TOGETHER

While we love to explore, we also cherish filling our home with laughter, good food, family, and friends. But the most meaningful moments are often the simple ones, sitting down together for dinner and connecting at the end of the day.

We can't wait to welcome a child into this life, share our favorite things, encourage their passions, and create new traditions together.

✿ GROWING UP

I grew up in the southeast, surrounded by a loving family with an open-door policy that created a warm, stable, and caring home where we all belonged.

My parents live on a small street, and my cousins were my neighbors. We spent countless hours riding bikes and playing together until we were called in for dinner. Now our children are creating similar memories with weekly visits to their grandparents.

My parents taught me to be kind, accountable, generous, and resilient. My brother taught me how to make everyday life fun and how special it is when your sibling is also your best friend. As a wife, I've grown into a devoted, loyal, and patient partner. I'm the friend people call first because they know I'll show up without judgment, celebrate life's joys wholeheartedly, and sit beside them through the hard moments too.

Caroline always has more love to give and is the foundation of our family life. She keeps everyday moments fun with encouragement and a hug. Caroline plans our family adventures, near and far, creating the joyful memories that we cherish.

AS A MOM

As a Mama, I have learned the importance of being present, consistent, understanding, nurturing, encouraging, gentle, and fun. I cannot wait to welcome a child into our family and continue to grow into the Mama that this child needs, while adoring every aspect of them.

✿ G R O W I N G U P

Growing up in the Philadelphia area as the oldest of three children, I learned responsibility, kindness, and diligence from my loving and supportive parents.

As an adult my first job was as an aviator in the U.S. Marine Corps. Through that job I lived in many regions of the country and visited places all around the world. Because of these formative experiences, I have an appreciation and respect for different cultures and points of view, and have a passion for exploring the world.

As a former collegiate athlete and military officer, physical fitness has always been an important hobby of mine. I also love reading, learning, and keeping up with world events. My friends would describe me as loyal and trustworthy, someone who can be counted on.

Jason is the steady anchor of our family, providing strength, security, and stability. He's devoted and patient, happily spending hours building toys just to see our child smile. Because of him, our children will grow up feeling loved, secure, and capable.

AS A DAD

Being a father is one of my most important roles in life. I think that the most important attributes it has grown in me have been patience, listening, and leading with love. I would be overjoyed to bring a new son or daughter into our home.

Connor is our adorable, spunky,
and creative son.

Connor loves music, building ball runs and marble mazes, kitchen dance parties, hide and seek, playing with trains, racing toy cars, reading, and making brunch with us on the weekends.

He is affectionate and caring and he gives the best hugs. He loves playing with his younger cousins and his friends and their younger siblings who come over for weekly playdates. He talks often about being a big brother and loves to read Dora and Daniel Tiger books about bringing a baby brother or sister home. He can't wait to teach them everything he knows, especially about cars, trains, and the snack drawer in the pantry!

CAN'T LIVE WITHOUT

and love

A man and a woman are standing on a paved driveway in front of a two-story brick house. The house has a dark roof, white trim around the windows, and a large tree with green leaves in the front yard. The woman is wearing a light-colored dress and the man is wearing a blue shirt and jeans. A black mailbox is visible on the left side of the driveway.

Welcome!

TO OUR HOME

We live in a lovely neighborhood filled with young families, kids riding bikes, and trees and creeks. Our home is on a quiet cul-de-sac where neighboring kids play ball outside. It is Caroline's childhood dream home, with pink brick, window seats for reading, and a big backyard where we spend lots of time together. We recently renovated the kitchen and living room to create a more open space that helps us stay connected as a family. Our home feels comfortable, welcoming, and full of family photos and children's artwork.

Evenings are filled with board games, shooting baskets, ball runs, bedtime stories, and snuggles. Weekends usually mean brunch together, church, cheering Connor on at baseball or soccer, and trips to the zoo or science museum. Downtown is just a short drive away, giving us easy access to great restaurants, parks, and community events, and throughout the year we love exploring pumpkin patches, strawberry farms, Christmas light shows, and waterfalls.

We're so grateful to live in a welcoming community where a child can grow up feeling safe, connected, and loved.

GRANDPARENTS

CAROLINE'S SIDE

Caroline's parents, brother, and extended family live nearby and always jump at the chance to spend time together. The seven cousins love playing basketball and soccer, racing Hot Wheels, and playing hide-and-seek at our house or their grandparents' home. Caroline's brother is an incredible chef, so holidays are often centered around gathering in the kitchen and sharing big meals together. One favorite Christmas tradition is "Wig-mas," where everyone opens a silly wig to wear during dinner and family game night, which guarantees lots of laughter.

JASON'S SIDE

Jason grew up in a large family, so gatherings are loud, fun, and full of laughter. Even though they live farther away, we stay close through weekly video chats and frequent visits. Every summer, the whole family rents a beach house where the cousins spend their days building sandcastles, swimming, playing putt-putt, and walking to get ice cream together. At Thanksgiving, we gather on a farm where the kids play nonstop while the adults stay up late talking by the fireplace.

Our Friends

We greatly enjoy spending time with our close friends and their children, who have become family to us. Whether it's meeting at a playground, having a picnic, or attending a local festival, we love learning from one another's backgrounds, traditions, and beliefs and sharing those experiences with our children.

Our families and friends are overjoyed to help us welcome a child through adoption, and they can't wait to share our traditions and supportive community with them.

OUR CATS

Brooklyn & Hudson

Brooklyn and Hudson are our 10-year-old brother and sister kitties. They act more like dogs than cats, as they love to play fetch, follow us around the house, accompany us on neighborhood walks, and snuggle up as soon as we sit down. They are gentle around children and settle-in nearby to be part of the action. We often come home to find them chasing chipmunks in the yard or curled up in a sunny windowsill.

HANGING IN THE BACKYARD

OUR HOPE

AS PARENTS

We want our children to feel deeply loved, fully seen, and completely cared for. In our home, it's okay to make mistakes. We laugh, dance, help each other, listen well, and give big hugs.

We live by honesty, integrity, faith, and dependability, and we hope to raise a child who is empathetic, courageous, and resilient. We want them to feel confident in who they are and know they can always come to us.

Their adoption story will always be celebrated in our home. We'll answer their questions honestly and connect them with others who share that experience.

Becoming parents has changed how we define success. It's not about achievement. It's about being present, loving well, and raising a good person.

Thank You

We can't begin to express how grateful and humbled we are to be considered. We hold deep respect for you and for the love that has gone into this decision.

Should you choose us, your baby would be welcomed with open arms, loved unconditionally, and given every opportunity. We will honor their story and speak about you with respect and gratitude. They will grow up in a supportive community with a doting older brother, caring cousins, and dear friends, many of whom have also experienced adoption.

Whatever path you choose, our hope is for your child to feel deeply loved, have complete stability, and be fully supported throughout their life. We are grateful for the chance to share our hearts with you.

WITH LOVE
