

Sachie and Bobby

Hello!

We are Bobby and Sachie, and together we've built a relationship rooted in kindness, respect,
curiosity, and a deep love for family.

After many years of hoping to grow our family, we are excited about the opportunity adoption may bring. Together, we enjoy exploring the outdoors, traveling, learning new things, and spending time with friends and loved ones. As educators and lifelong learners, we hope to provide a child with a home filled with love, stability, encouragement, and opportunity. Most of all, we hope to be parents who help a child feel safe, valued, and deeply loved every day.

Thank you

Thank you for taking the time to look through our profile. These pages share small moments from our life together, the home we have created, and the love, laughter, and stability we hope to provide as parents.

CELEBRATING ANOTHER
GREAT YEAR OF LIFE

We found each other through a Japanese-English social group shortly after Sachie moved to the United States and after Bobby returned from living in Japan. What began as a long conversation quickly grew into a friendship, and over time we realized we shared many of the same values: kindness, curiosity, empathy, and a love of learning and adventure. We dated for four years before marrying and have built a relationship grounded in respect, teamwork, and open communication.

Our home is warm, supportive, and full of laughter.

We're ready to share it all.

HOLIDAY LIGHTS

A TRADITIONAL HOTEL IN JAPAN

PEACE DAY

We enjoy spending time outdoors hiking, camping, exploring parks, and traveling to new places. At home, you'll often find us cooking together, trying a new hobby, hosting friends for game nights, or planning our next adventure. We share household responsibilities and make it a priority to support one another through life's challenges.

After years of infertility treatments and loss, we found our hearts leading us toward adoption. We both have experience with adoption; Bobby volunteered at an orphanage in Japan for a summer, and Sachie works at an elementary school where she works directly with adopted children. We are excited to share a life filled with love, stability, learning, and encouragement, and to help a child discover who they are while always feeling safe, valued, and deeply loved.

That has been the greatest passion of my life.

PLAYFUL, LIGHTEARTED, UPBEAT

I'm someone who loves helping others, exploring new places, and finding adventure in everyday life. People describe me as joyful, patient, open-minded, and caring. I enjoy traveling, hiking, camping, bicycling, and discovering unique foods and experiences. I love learning about the world and sharing those experiences with the people I love.

For more than 15 years, I have worked as a teacher, first as a piano teacher and preschool teacher, and now as a special education paraeducator. These experiences have taught me patience, empathy, and the importance of helping every child feel supported and valued. As a parent, I am excited to provide a child with a loving, stable home where they can feel safe, happy, and encouraged to become the very best version of themselves.

Bobby on Sachie

"What excites me most about Sachie as a parent is her patience and natural connection with children. After 15 years working as an educator, she has a remarkable ability to meet children where they are, whether that's helping them through a challenge, celebrating a small success, or making them feel seen. She brings warmth, joy, and stability to every child she works with, and I have no doubt she'll bring that same love to our family."

KIND, ADVENTUROUS, JOYFUL

I'm always excited to learn something new, create something with my hands, or help others. People describe me as thoughtful, curious, and compassionate. I enjoy everything from hiking and exploring nature to building models, working on cars, roasting coffee, and experimenting in the kitchen. I also love movies, games, and spending time with friends and family.

For work, I'm a Director at a famous technology company, but some of the experiences that have shaped me most happened outside of work. Earlier in life, I spent three years teaching elementary and middle school and volunteered at an orphanage in Japan. Those experiences deepened my passion for helping children learn, grow, and discover their potential. I look forward to bringing that same passion to parenthood by teaching life skills, creating opportunities for exploration, and providing unwavering love, support, and encouragement.

Sachie on Bobby

"What excites me most about Bobby as a parent is his kindness, curiosity, and playful sense of humor. I can picture him helping with homework, answering endless questions about the world, and inspiring the child to be the best person they can be, all while making our child laugh and feel loved, supported, and encouraged to be themselves."

Our Home

in Washington

Our home is warm and welcoming, filled with laughter, learning, and togetherness. We spend time in the kitchen cooking, around the table playing games or watching movies, and catching up on our day. Weekends often mean hiking local trails, exploring parks, community events, or relaxing at home.

We live in a family-friendly community surrounded by natural beauty, on a quiet cul-de-sac where kids often play. We love the balance of a peaceful neighborhood with easy access to parks, libraries, culture, and the outdoors. As a multicultural family who has lived and traveled abroad, we value diversity and believe children benefit from exposure to different cultures and perspectives.

Throughout the year, we look forward to seasonal festivals, holiday celebrations, camping trips, and new adventures together. We believe this is a wonderful place to raise a child, offering a safe, supportive community and endless opportunities to learn, grow, and create lasting memories.

CELEBRATING OUR ANNIVERSARY

Our Family

and friends

Family and community are at the heart of our lives. Over the years, both of us have grown very close to our parents and siblings, staying connected through regular phone calls, visits, and family gatherings. We also have a wonderful circle of friends who feel like family. In fact, Bobby has a lifelong friend he considers a brother, and these friendships have become an important part of our support system. Bobby talks with his dad several times a week, and Sachie enjoys long conversations with her mom, sharing everything from everyday news to life advice.

Because most of our relatives live far away, our local friends have become our extended family. They are the people we celebrate holidays with, gather for game nights, enjoy outdoor adventures with, and lean on during difficult times. As a multicultural family with roots in both the United States and Japan, we enjoy sharing different traditions, foods, and perspectives. We value kindness, respect, and openness to people from all backgrounds.

A child joining our family will be surrounded by a loving village of family and friends who will cheer them on, celebrate their milestones, and help them feel a strong sense of belonging.

MAKING OUR OWN KIND OF ADVENTURE

WE LOVE EXPLORING
THE WORLD

We believe every child deserves to feel safe, loved, supported, and accepted for exactly who they are. Our goal as parents is to create a home filled with kindness, curiosity, respect, and open communication, where a child is encouraged to explore their interests, learn from challenges, and grow into their own unique person.

As both of us are educators and lifelong learners, we look forward to sharing everyday moments, family dinners, bedtime stories, outdoor adventures, game nights, and conversations about the world around us. We also believe a child's adoption story is an important part of who they are and should be spoken about with honesty, respect, and love.

HONORING YOUR WISHES

To us, openness means honoring the connection a child has with their story and the people who are part of it. We would welcome the opportunity to build a relationship that feels comfortable and meaningful for everyone involved, while always respecting your wishes and what you feel is best.

Thank you!

Thank you for taking the time to learn about us and our journey. We can only imagine the courage this decision takes, and we want you to know how deeply we empathize with you.

A few pages can't capture a whole life, but we hope this profile gave you a glimpse of who we are: a goofy couple who values kindness, laughter, learning, and showing up for the people we love. We're excited by the possibility of sharing our lives with a child and offering a home filled with encouragement, stability, adventure, and unconditional love.

No matter where your journey leads, thank you for letting us be part of it. We wish you peace, strength, and support as you move forward.

GRATITUDE
